Building Tomorrow's Health Services is a two day think-tank with a focus on future models of care over the next two decades. The conference will be opened by the Minister for Health, Hon. David Cunliffe and chaired by Dr Lester Levy, CEO of New Zealand Leadership Institute.

This interactive conference is specifically tailored to engage those with an interest in the strategic future of the health system within New Zealand.

Join Counties Manukau DHB and the Ministry of Health in a dialogue with Prof. Martin McKee from the UK talking about global health systems in transition and Dr Scott Young, via video link from the US, discussing the use of technology in 20 years time.
